EXPERIENCE

David Méndez, a self-taught magician, became interested in magic at the age of seven and has never stopped exploring and learning about the world of magic and illusionism.

He began his artistic career in 1992, the year he gave his first performances for the general public.

In 1995 he joined the Sociedad Española de Ilusionismo (Spanish Society of Illusionism), where he met the leading figures in magic, learning and exchanging knowledge and ideas.

In 1997 he presented his first professional show, built around grand illusions. Since then he has gone on developing new magical ideas and surprising stage productions, performing at hundreds of events, theatres and venues, libraries and book fairs, and creating bespoke magic shows for marketing and retail promotion campaigns, cultural engagement and training on leadership, teamwork, creativity, science and magic, using magic as a channel of communication.

He has attended national and international magic conventions, appeared on television programmes and given talks about the world of magic. As well as performing, he creates and advises on “new effects and tricks” for professional magicians.

CEO and founder of magiaon, reviews of professional magic tricks.
